FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Woodinville, WA– Play Visions to become OgoSport Active Exclusive Distributor in the United States. The partnership between Play Visions and OgoSport will take effect immediately. This new partnership will see Play Visions distributing OgoSport's range of award-winning products to retailers across the country.

Play Visions has a reputation for providing specialty retailers with unique toys and gifts for more than 30 years. Play Visions continues to be a successful innovator and provides its valued customers with ingenious, innovative, and educational products that will inspire this generation and generations to come.

OgoSport is a company known for its innovative outdoor play products, including the OgoDisk, a fun and versatile flying disc that can be used to play a variety of games. The company's products promote active play, encourage social interaction, and inspire creativity and imagination.

"We are thrilled to be partnering with OgoSport to bring their products to even more customers across the United States," said Kiley Rose, CEO of Play Visions. "OgoSport's active product line is a perfect fit for our portfolio, and we are excited to be able to offer these innovative toys and games to our customers."

As the exclusive distributor for OgoSport Active in the United States, Play Visions will be responsible for marketing, sales, and distribution of OgoSport's active product line to retailers across the country. Play Visions will also be providing ongoing customer support to retailers and sales reps. Play Visions will be showcasing OgoSport Active products at upcoming trade shows and events.

"We are excited to partner with Play Visions to expand our reach in the United States," said Kevin Williams and Jenie Fu, co-owners of OgoSport. "Play Visions has a great reputation in the toy industry, and we believe that this partnership will help us to bring our products to even more customers and grow our business."
